Doctor Urges Immunizations

Dr. C. G. Swift, county health officer, urged parents to start immunizations for their pre-schoolers who will be entering school in the fall. State law requires immunizations for whooping cough, diphtheria, polio, measles, and tetanus.

The doctor said only 17 children attended a recent Sunday afternoon clinic where immunizations were to be given.

He said parents may get their children immunized at the health unit in Cameron or at the health office at Rockdale.

City Election Set Tuesday

E. L. Wied, Leroy Caffey, H. H. Coffield, W. P. Hogan, Bob Ellett, Joe Glaser, Sid Richardson, George Bowman and Roy Ingram.

A good turnout of city voters is expected in Tuesday's election, when residents vote in the contested city council race. A mayor will also be elected, with one candidate on the ballot.

Gene Blake, owner of the local Coca-Cola plant, is the one candidate for mayor. Blake is a first-time candidate in Cameron.

In the council race, four candidates are seeking two places on the council. Incumbent Lester Turner is on the ballot for re-election and he is opposed by Hubert Knight, also a first time candidate.

Two other political newcomers are vying for the other place on the council: James Kahler and Lincoln Mondrik, both local businessmen.

Polls will open at city hall at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Joe Matula will be election judge.

The city council will hold its regular meeting at 7 p.m. instead of 5:30, in order to canvass the votes in the election.

Census Report Shows Milam Farms Increase

Milam County shows a total of 1,800 farms in the 1969 Census of Agriculture, according to figures released by the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census, a part of the Department's Social and Economic Statistics Administration (SESA).

This is an increase of 77 farms over the last previous Census of Agriculture in 1964 when the number of farms was reported at 1,723.

Of the county's total farms in 1969, 930 are reported as selling $2,500 or more of agricultural products in the year, as compared with 683 in 1964.

The report also shows average farm size in the county was 270.4 acres, and average value of these farms (land and buildings) was $52,465.

Other figures from the report are:

1. Value of all farm products sold in 1969, $12,462,438; in 1964, $9,517,050.

2. Value of all crops sold in 1969, $3,668,198; in 1964, $4,861,348.

3. Value of all livestock, poultry and their products sold in 1969, $8,757,195; in 1964, $4,648,817.

Reported for the first time in the agricultural census is information on the extent to which the corporate structure is being used by operators of farms from which agricultural products totaling $2,500 and over were sold. Including family farms using this type of business structure, two of the county's $2,500-and-over farms are incorporated.

Area Roundup

New Smackover Discovery

BREMOND

A gas and oil well which blew in March 12 between Bremond and Kosse is a new discovery in the Smackover formation and extends the trend of the formation 25 miles south of any previous discovery. The well was drilled by Jake L. Hamon of Dallas, an independent operator. The well has not been potentiated yet, revealing how much it will produce.

Dress Code Changes

HEARNE

Local students have enjoyed changes in the dress code approved by the school board. The boys are allowed to wear their sideburns a little longer but the greatest change is that girls are permitted to wear slacks and blouses to school. Pant suits and pant sets were previously allowed. The student council "went through proper channels to request the school board to change its policy" the high school principal said.

Log Cabin To Be Museum

A century-old log cabin which once belonged to Dr. A. C. Scott, a founder of Scott and White Hospital, was moved to the hospital grounds for conversion to a museum. The cabin has remained in the Scott family since Dr. Scott's death. It was given to the hospital by his grandson. The original cabin was built in 1854 by pioneer homesteaders, and was used by Dr. Scott for a study.

Large Hailstones Pelt Area

ROCKDALE

Hailstones larger than golfballs bombarded Rockdale between 6 and 6:30 p.m. Friday, playing havoc with gardens, patio covers, some roofs and automobiles. The hail fell during a severe thunderstorm.

Goad Named To 'Green Thumb' Post

ROSEBUD

J. E. Goad of Rosebud will represent the 11th Congressional district on the Texas Advisory Board for Green Thumb, a new work program that provides for extra income for elderly people. It is being operated and sponsored by the National Farmers Union in 17 states that include Texas. Green Thumb workers are recruited from rolls of local Employment Commission offices from applicants 55 years and older.

Old Fire Station Comes Down

GEORGETOWN

Georgetown's old fire station is coming down, giving way to a new $34,800 structure to be completed in about five months. The new building will have a brick front with four roll up doors while the older building, to be remodeled, will have a standard door and a 20 foot door. The traditional fireman's pole will be eliminated in favor of a spiral staircase.

Sales Tax Refund Shows City Growth

The city banked a check for $16,713.82, representing the sales tax refund for the last quarter of 1971. This brings the total refund for 1971 to $62,830, an increase over past years.

The refund is also larger than for the same time last year, when the city received $15,934.60. This period includes Christmas sales.

The refunds from sales tax have shown a steady increase. In 1969, the total for the year was $51,782 and in 1970, $59,156.

The city receives one percent of the sales tax collected (excluding groceries and other exempted items) by the state. Payments from the State Comptroller usually run one full quarter behind the time of collection.

Patrol Reports

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 16 accidents on rural highways in Milam County during the month of February, according to Sgt. G. E. Simmons, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

Center Possible For Mentally Retarded

A center for mentally retarded persons was termed a future possibility for Milam County and a request for a full time counselor for the county was reported included in the budget for the Austin State School when a representative of the school met with County Judge O. B. Harden here last week.

Mrs. Judy Schlotzhauer, who is researching needs of mentally retarded in the county, said they estimated that Milam County had more than 60 children and adults who are mentally retarded. Mrs. Schlotzhauer said the Austin State School was offering the local counseling service in an effort to help less severely retarded care for themselves at home.

Limited counseling has been available locally since October when a part-time counselor was assigned to work with families of mentally retarded on a one-day a month basis.

Judge Harden said if funds for a full-time employee are approved the counselor will join the staff of the Milam County Mental Health Clinic.

Mrs. Schlotzhauer said a center for mentally retarded would provide training and limited employment possibilities for adults and training in self-help skills in the home. She said a similar center in New Braunfels opened recently and enrollees are making quilts, volleyball nets and arts and crafts for sale to the public.

Judge Harden said anyone interested in the program or needing counseling services should contact the Mental Health Clinic in Cameron which is located at the Milam County Health Unit.

Guidelines Set For Store Signs

The Southern Building Code governs the placement of store signs and must be followed by any storeowners putting up signs.

A. W. McCullin, Urban Renewal executive director, said storeowners should check with the city or the urban renewal office before installing signs or remodeling their buildings.

Spacecraft Reveals Much About Mars

By Peter Mosley
Reuter Correspondent

PASADENA, Calif.

America's Mariner 9 spacecraft, its prime objectives fully accomplished, has begun winding down after presenting scientists a totally new vision of the planet Mars.

The tiny eye in the Martian sky completed its basic 90-day mission in orbit around Mars earlier this month. "Anything we get from now on is gravy," one scientist observed.

The global dust storm that raged when Mariner went in to orbit last Nov. 12 cleared in time for its twin cameras to map more than 75 per cent of the Martian surface. The mission objective was 70 per cent.

And there were plenty of startling surprises among the 6,000 pictures and the masses of instrument readings.

Probably the biggest was that Mars quite definitely has a volcanic history. This all-important discovery contradicted evidence from earlier missions that flew past the planet at a much greater range and photographed only what appeared to be impact craters, caused by meteorites.

Mariner has photographed at least nine volcanoes. Nobody yet knows whether Mars is still volcanically active, but some prominent scientists say the very fact that there has been vulcanism is a great incentive in the search for some sort of life on Mars.

It was vulcanism on earth that released water and carbon dioxide from the rocks.

and the water led to life. On Mars, there is no trace of surface water and very little water vapor in the atmosphere.

"It's dryer than the Sahara," observed a spokesman at the Pasadena Jet Propulsion Laboratory, where the Mariner project is being managed.

But scientists studying pictures that show a network of great canyons meandering across the Martian surface say their similarity to river beds on earth is hard to escape. One such chasm discovered this week is nearly twice as deep and six times wider than the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

Some experts hold that the canyons were caused partly by fractures and partly by erosion. But others, like famed geologist Dr. Harold Masursky, of the U.S. Geological Survey, tend to the theory that they may have been caused by rivers.

"Since we have things to look at though they might be due to water erosion, and the important thing for life as we know it is the presence or absence of water, then in this sense the possibility of life on Mars is enormously improved," Masursky said.

"The planet is changing in front of us. Mars has turned out to be more dynamic than we had hoped. ... now we know that the planet is very different in different places. Mars is certainly more active than the moon although less active than earth."

Now the question is, if Mars once had water what happened to it? The answer may be important in understanding the development of our own planet.

An ultraviolet instrument aboard Mariner has shown that about 100,000 gallons of water vapor escapes from the thin Martian atmosphere every day. "The great puzzle is how that water is being replenished," said J.P. L. spokesman.

One theory is that layers of permafrost lie below the surface, possibly in the polar regions, and that some sort of internal heat source is melting them.

The scientists are very guarded, however, about the significance of apparent "hot spots" discovered by Mariner instruments -- areas where the temperature rises slightly, possibly due to an internal heat source.

Some of the few communications under the Mars information exchange between Russia and the United States have concerned these "hot spots."

Two Soviet spacecraft are orbiting Mars, but little information is being issued on their results. A landing vehicle which parachuted to the surface on Dec. 2 transmitted television pictures for only 20 seconds and then died for reasons unknown. The two Soviet orbiters have sensing devices and cameras, but the cameras cannot be pointed at specific targets as Mariners can.

Will You Be One?

Various area city elections present contested candidacies: Cameron, Rogers, Rockdale among them.

With registrations down for the primaries, perhaps people are more interested in showing their opinions in the local elections.

With all the hurrah at the state and national levels, let's hope voters are not as apparently disinterested in local issues and candidates in a Presidential election year.

It is routine to write editorials about voting. Perhaps it is too routine to vote.

Special Session....

The special session of this Legislature put up necessary funds to finance the primary and general elections and pushed through approval of a billboard control law.

And the Texas House ratified by a 137-9 vote to make Texas the eighth state approving the women's rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The election bill was about $2 million while approval of federally required billboard law cleared the way for the state to receive $24 million which otherwise would have been withheld.

It was done in three days after Gus Mutscher officially stepped aside as Speaker to open the way for election of

But each local election at this time in the Milam area has particular meaning. City of Rogers has more candidates running in school and city elections than in recent history.

Cameron has two contested council posts, though the mayoral candidate stands unopposed.

The only way the winners will know their candidacies are of any interest is to draw a sizeable vote.

Will you be one to cast your ballot?

Rayford Price speaker.

It was apparently a session nobody wanted, but had to go through. So the pyrotechnics all but evaporated after Price won the speaker's vote for the interim session.

Price's proposals for House rules reform hit some flack in the House Rules Committee, where it must get two-thirds support.

It appeared the rules reform would not get any action in this special session.

It is likely House reform will be the major question in opening sessions of the 1973-74 Legislature. The "Dirty 30" reform movement could have a majority influence in the House after November.

Dateline Austin...

Special Session Goes 3 Days

By Bill Boykin
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN State lawmakers polished off billboard control and primary election finance legislation in a three-day special session -- and added far-reaching procedural reform rules for good measure.

They will be back to work in June on budget and tax matter.

In their "mini-session," the legislators -- many anxious to get back to the campaign trails -- logged these accomplishments:

*They provided for emergency state financing of the May and June primary elections and set aside $2 million to pay the bills. Another long-term primary finance measure will be necessary next year.

*They moved to meet federal highway beautification requirements by outlawing billboards within 660 feet of major highways and providing for screening of junkyards. The measure will cost the state about $5 million a year in condemnation costs for five years. But it will prevent a $24 million loss of federal highway construction funds for non-compliance with regulations.

*Both House and Senate adopted joint rules including sharp limitations on powers of conference committees to write new legislative matters without majority permission.

*The House also accepted rules installing a limited seniority system for committee assignments, reducing the number of committees from 46 to 25 and providing for electronic recording of House and committee proceedings.

*Legislators also made Texas the eighth state to ratify a proposed federal constitutional amendment guaranteeing equal legal rights for women.

Highlight of the opening day was election of Rep. Rayford Price, 35, of Palestine as new speaker of the House. Price won 77-65 over Rep. L. Dewitt Hale of Corpus Christi. He succeeds Rep. Gus Mutscher of Brenham who resigned after his conviction for bribery conspiracy.

ALLOWABLE ADJUSTED Texas Railroad Commission decided to hold the oil allowable for the big East Texas Field to 66 per cent during April instead of the 100 per cent fixed for the rest of the state.

An increase for the East Texas Field was postponed pending completion of a study.

Chairman Byron Tunnell said the nation has "far too much at stake" in East Texas "to risk reservoir damage through excessive production rates."

For the first time since 1948, the Commission fixed a 100 per cent production factor for this month.

COURTS SPEAK

Major sections of Texas vagrancy laws were held unconstitutional by the State Court of Criminal Appeals which said the act makes it a crime to be unemployed or poor.

Texas Supreme Court declined to order two aspiring candidates' names placed on the May primary ballots. One failed to post a filing fee or petition of candidacy. Another was refused a ballot position because he was already a member of a utility district board.

The High Court set for May 10 a hearing on an appeal involving the City of Amarillo's power to tax a Mason's Lodge building and three lots owned by the order.

AG OPINIONS

Texas Air Control Board can pay court costs in civil penalty pollution-control suits from its operating expense fund, Att. Gen. Crawford C. Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

*It is unlawful to hunt deer with dogs in Shelby County.

*Texas National Guardsmen from other states are eligible for resident student tuition status in state-supported colleges and universities.

*A person who holds a voter registration certificate is eligible for a junior college district trustee office if he lives in the district.

*A criminal conviction for traffic violations would not qualify as a "hearing" subjecting a person to requirements of the Texas Motor Vehicle Safety-Responsibility Act.

*The legislature cannot appropriate funds to pay primary election expenses incurred by local political parties in the past.

INSURANCE HEARING

A scheduled March 29 hearing by the State Insurance Board on a proposed increase in home insurance was indefinitely postponed amid talk of compromise. Board Chairman Larry

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

BY CRAWFORD C. MARTIN
Attorney General of Texas

"Hello, I'm here to take a survey. I don't have a thing to sell." And with those opening lines the high-pressure sales pitch begins.

While not all door-to-door salesmen are con men, there are numerous door-to-door rackets. Although there are an infinite number of variations used by the door-to-door salesman, knowing some of the basic types of approaches can help you protect yourself against being duped.

Phoney surveys are a favorite way for gypsies to get their foot into your door. If someone claims to be taking a survey, insist upon seeing their credentials before letting them in. If they don't have proper identification, say you're not interested in participating. You may save yourself from an unpleasant high-pressure sales pitch.

Sympathy appeals are another door-to-door selling trick. Some companies actually organize and train crews of people to use sob stories to make sales. So don't fall for the old "I'm working my way through school and supporting my invalid mother" line unless you check out the story first.

Be especially on the lookout for the "inspectors" who come to your door offering phoney "free" inspections. Ask for both identification and authorization credentials. If they don't have them, don't let them in without checking with local authorities about their identity. Home repairs, like fixing roofs or furnaces, or termite exterminations, are favorite projects for this kind of racket. Don't agree to repairs or other services without getting another estimate from a local serviceman.

To protect yourself from falling into door-to-door selling traps, take time to fully consider any purchase. A reputable salesman will be happy to come back. Before buying, compare prices of similar merchandise in your local stores. You might find a better price.

Don't sign any papers obligating payment unless you know the total cost. High interest, credit insurance and other service charges can greatly increase the total price of merchandise.

Remember, buy only what you need. Above all, never be afraid to say no! You can always decide to buy later, but once you make your purchase you are stuck with it.

Islanders Avoid Heart Attacks

By Michael Littlejohns
Reuter Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS

A pastoral people who live 6,000 feet or more above sea level and eat mainly sweet potatoes may have the secret of avoiding heart attacks.

Scientists of the University of Papua and New Guinea, a United Nations trust territory administered by Australia, have come to this conclusion after studying some 1,500 tribesmen, most of them farmers or pigherders.

Writing about them in World Health, a publication of the World Health Organization (WHO) Prof. Peter Sinnett said they showed almost no trace of coronary disease -- the cause of 30 per cent of all deaths of men over 40 in industrialized societies.

Only three per cent of their 2,300 calories a day diet was derived from fat, Dr. Sinnett noted. But, despite their low protein intake, the young adults of the tribe were remarkably healthy and superior to mainland Australians in physical fitness. Dr. Sinnett also noted that, in sharp contrast to other societies, obesity was almost non-existent among the tribesmen.

High blood pressure was rare and there was little tendency for it to rise with age, again a contrast with the experience of people in industrialized communities.

As high levels of salt intake were often associated with the development of rising blood pressure, the "extremely modest" levels of salt consumed by this New Guinea population might be responsible for the very low occurrence of hypertension, Dr. Sinnett suggested.

But he went on to report that the groups life expectancy was only 48 years, raising questions of whether long exposure to a low-grade, protein deficient diet affected heart action.

World Health Day, April 7, has as its theme this year "Your heart is your health", and WHO has issued a list of six rules to help reduce the risk of coronary disease:

1. Stop Cigarette smoking.
2. Stop overeating.
3. Reduce the amount of saturated fats in the diet by cutting down on fat meats and fat meat products, dairy fat and hardened margarine.
4. Avoid egg yolk.
5. Use grain, fruit, vegetables, fish, salad and cooking oils, and new soft margarines.
6. Have blood pressure checked at least every five years and if it is too high stick to the treatment prescribed.

MILAM AREA PARADE OF SPORTS

The track team this year was composed of Barmore (Capt.) Burke, Atkinson, Epperson, Tracy, Barge and Howell.

After a hard strenuous practice of the team under the coaching of Mr. Norwood the team went to College Station to the State meet. Barmore and Atkinson showed good form in Pole Vault, winning first and second place in this event.

Epperson qualified in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, but on account of a sprained ankle was unable to run in the finals.

Against a good crowd of high jumpers, Barmore won fourth place at 5 ft. 8.7-8 inches. Cameron won 7 1-2 points and sixth place in the meet. Barmore was individual point winner with 41-6 points.

The team expects a good year for 1972.

Reaching All Telephones Would Take 250 Years

How would it be to call all the telephones in the world? "Impossible," said Dennis Richter, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. "The task of reaching all 272.7 million phones would take more than 250 years, even for an American, who places more calls a year on the average than anyone else on the globe." He said statistics show that each man, woman and child in America during 1972 averaged about 2.1 conversations per day, or 779 for the year -- more than the combined average of their counterparts in Argentina, Greece, China and Australia. However, Richter pointed out that even if this average were increased to 2.1 conversations per minute it would still take more than 250 years to reach all of the world's telephones. Richter based his calculations on the latest edition of "The World's Telephones," a booklet published annually by AT&T's Long Lines Department, the Bell System unit for interstate and international services. He said the telephone census reflects developments to January 1, 1972, because a full year is needed to compile the data. Cameron played a role in helping Americans set another record -- that of having more telephones in service than any other country. "The record showed the U. S. ahead with 120.2 million phones, five times as many as second place Japan which reported 26.2 million," Richter said. "There are 3,397 phones in Cameron which is more than all the telephones in the country of British Honduras," he noted. Even though the U. S. topped the list in total telephones, its growth rate is less than half that of a number of countries led by Greece, Yugoslavia, Japan, and Korea. "However, it probably will be a long time before these countries equal telephone concentration in the U. S. which is one phone for every two people," he said. To make his point, Richter compared Texas with its more than five million telephones in Sweden which has more than 4.5 million telephones. With the other four states of Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri served by Southwestern Bell, the total company phones at the end of 1970 surpassed the number in Canada. Southwestern Bell had 10,488,540 phones compared to Canada's 9,752,537.

BUSINESS REVIEW

Cameron Lumber Co. Boasts Amazing Variety

Cameron Lumber Co. sells standard lumber and roofing materials. That's expected.

What is unexpected is the amazing variety of 1,000 paint colors available at Cameron Lumber, operated by Charles Chandler, 12 years an experienced decorator, builder and remodeler.

How does Cameron Lumber assure 1,000 colors? It's with Colony paints' instant color, liquid powder paint system, guaranteed for color accuracy.

Decorating a room, a house exterior, the whole house is easy with Cameron Lumber's Colony paint system.

If 1,000 paints aren't enough, how about pre-finished paneling and moldings in a variety of finishes and tones in a variety of prices?

Assisting Chandler is Gene Marak, himself a veteran of eight years with the firm.

Cameron Lumber Co. traces its beginnings to Jeter Lumber Co. in 1890, which successively became Woodson Lumber, Wiese Lumber and now Cameron Lumber Co., all in the same location.

Its location across from City Hall is an advantage that Chandler enjoys. He manages a business that is part of a career in paint and decorating sales, wholesale and retail, in Austin and Cameron.

Other building and decorating materials are part of the Cameron Lumber service. Ceiling tile, hardware and bulkier supplies, a complete line of plumbing equipment, carpenter tools, yard equipment, picture framing service, aluminum window screen service are a part of Cameron Lumber's merchandising.

I.T. Gilbert Is A Top Salesman For Mutual Of Omaha

You win the Master Builders Club award by top salesmanship and service with Mutual of Omaha.

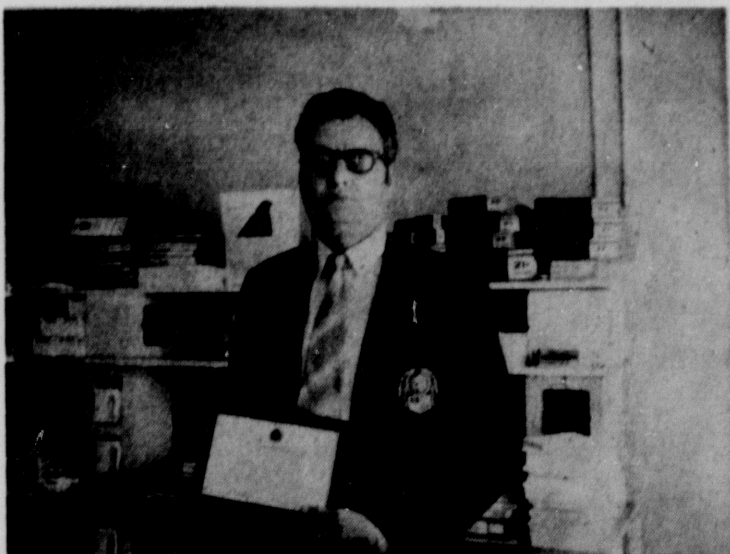

That is just what Ivey T. Gilbert, Milam County representative of the famous insurance company, delivers.

He is one of Mutual of Omaha's top 12 salesmen in the country, cited January, 1970, as a member of the Master Builders Club of Mutual of Omaha Insurance and its affiliate, United Benefit Life Insurance Company.

So Gilbert's presentation is timely. And a Mutual of Omaha policy pays and pays and pays, because, he points out of one clause.

He won similar recognition in a plaque presented in January, 1968.

Gilbert is a sales and service representative for Milam County, a responsibility he has held for five years. He has a total of 13 years experience in the insurance sales field.

Four times a year he joins with other representatives of Mutual of Omaha in study course and seminars to update information on today's service needs for both companies and what other companies are offering.

It is a recurrence clause very few health and accident companies provide which can be used over and over and over for the same disability.

Gilbert cites one policyholder's experience in which the man received $15,000 for one disability for recurring health problems due to the one deficiency.

Born in Buckholts, Gilbert graduated from Sharp High School before it was consolidated about 15 years ago. He is married, and he and his wife Pat have three children: Ronald, 16; Brenda, 13; and Donna, 10. The Gilberts live on West 22nd Street.

Televisit System To Aid Hospital

MONTREAL

A one-way closed circuit television system called televisit has gone into operation at Montreal General Hospital, allowing patients for the first time to have "visits" from persons not allowed to visit certain wards.

"It's a great answer to the dilemma of children visiting," a hospital spokesman said. "And it should provide some relief to the number of visitors on the floors."

The system permits the patient to both see and hear his visitor. The visitor simply picks up a phone in front of a television monitoring the hospital lobby and he appears on a television screen in the patients room.

Volunteers are finding the televisit a help when they have to do shopping for patients.

"One woman asked me to buy her some slippers. Instead of carting a dozen different styles up to the 18th floor, I just put each pair in front of the screen, it's just across the way from the shop, and she chose the ones she wanted."

The closed-circuit system, the first of its kind in Canada, costs $5,000 and was installed free of charge by the company which rents the television sets in the hospital.

CANDIDATES SPEAK...

El Paso Times Favors Christie

AUSTIN — The El Paso Times has editorially endorsed State Senator Joe Christie for Lieutenant Governor.

In a lead editorial, the Times said, "Christie has made a good start... and that Joe Christie will make a strong lieutenant governor for Texas."

The newspaper noted Christie's stand on liquor by the drink made him widely known by both friends and enemies, "but he was also known as a man who knew how to handle difficult legislation, who could get along with his fellow senators -- a man who had the best interests of Texas at heart."

The Times pointed out Christie's accomplishments in the fields of conservation, endangered species, consumer protection, education and law enforcement.

"We agree with him," the paper said, "he did excellent work in these fields."

"Within recent weeks Christie has been gathering

Bill Jones Says He Will Name Names

Lieutenant Governor candidate Bill Jones charged that a long-standing power structure in Texas is putting the heat "on many people friendly to my campaign" to withdraw personal and financial support.

"I pointed to this problem in my opening announcement last Dec. 3, in which I said, 'I believe there is a growing awareness of our disastrous course which has made us appear so feeble and helpless that two or three professional politicians presume to think they can control the votes in this state.'"

"Friends of long standing who urged me to enter this race and who pledged active work, support and finances are receiving telephone threats of personal and financial reprisals if they continue to remain friendly to me in this race."

"I cannot believe the people of Texas want their affairs ruled and controlled by a turncoat Democrat in Washington, D. C."

Jones stated further that if this type of pressure continues, win, lose or draw, he is going to name names of those whom it is happening and places where this is happening in a statewide telecast just prior to the May 6 primary election.

"Then the voters can govern themselves accordingly in selecting their next lieutenant governor," Jones said.

East Texas Poll Favors Bill Hobby

Bill Hobby, Democratic candidate for Lt. Governor, has been listed as the front runner in the Lt. Governor's race in a recent poll taken by the DiBoll Free Press.

The East Texas newspaper conducted a random survey in Lufkin, Diboll, Fuller Springs, Zavalla, Central and Huntington, Texas. 48% of the individuals polled stated their political preference as Democrat, 3% as Republican, 47% as Independent and 2% listed no political preference. The poll is an indication of how voters feel about the candidates at this time.

Hobby was polled as the obvious first choice of 31%, his opponents polling 18%, Wayne Connally, 6%, Bill Jones, 8%, Joe Christie, 9%, Ralph Hall, with 29% undecided.

Commenting on the recent poll, Hobby stated that he felt he received such a strong showing because "People are becoming weary of the type of government Senators Hall, Connally and Christie represent. I have stated before that two of them signed the floor report which permitted the now-notorious Sharpstown Banking Bills to be voted on without a committee hearing."

"I have always been candid about where I stand on the pressing issues of constitutional reform, drugs, welfare and ethics in state government. My opponents have not done so."

"The majority of Texans support me in my stand for honest, responsible government."

Briscoe Wants Study

BIG SPRING — Speaking to a rally in front of the Howard County courthouse Monday, gubernatorial candidate Dolph Briscoe said he was against legalizing marijuana, or reducing the penalties for possession, until a meaningful study had been made of the whole narcotics situation in Texas.

"Too often the person found in possession of marijuana is a seller, or 'pusher,'" Briscoe said, "and it would be a travesty to reduce the penalties against such a person. Before reaching a final conclusion on how first-possession marijuana should be handled, therefore, I intend as governor to inaugurate a thorough study of the whole drug picture, with young people participating in the study."

Briscoe also told the West Texans that the state needs an ethics law "with teeth in it."

The candidate, answering a question from the audience, said he opposed an increase in the state gasoline tax, and thought the state should "live within its means." He reiterated his stand against forced busing to achieve racial balance in the schools, favored local control of school districts, and opposed annual sessions of the legislature.

In reply to another question, Briscoe said he disagreed strongly that the Texas Rangers should be disbanded.

Connally Cites Statewide Poll

AUSTIN — A statewide opinion poll showing Wayne Connally to be the "best known and best liked" candidate for Lieutenant Governor is further evidence of the all-out support he is receiving on the campaign trail throughout Texas, Connally says.

Connally also cited editorial endorsement by the Houston Chronicle as another expression of confidence in his leadership.

"I am deeply gratified by the findings of the respected Texas Poll and by the support of the newspaper in the home city of one of my opponents. It is fine to have such proof of what my campaign is encountering all along, and that is a firm statement by the people that they want Wayne Connally in a position of leadership as the next Lieutenant Governor," Connally declared.

The Texas Poll rated voters' awareness of Connally at 52 per cent, a substantial majority in a field of eight candidates. The nearest contenders were bunched together with less than half his strength. Similarly, Connally was way ahead on sheer popularity, scoring 33 per cent as against 13 per cent for his nearest opponent.

The Houston Chronicle gave Connally a strong recommendation.

"State Senator Wayne W. Connally has shown the ability, leadership and foresight which Texas needs in the lieutenant governorship," the newspaper declared.

Sen. Watson Speaks On School Issue

TAYLOR — State Senator Murray Watson of Mart today addressed the Kiwanis Club of Taylor, Texas, on the issue of financing public schools in Texas.

"Local control of our public schools and the quality of education our children receive is of major importance to every parent and taxpayer in Texas. For the past sixteen years as an elected state official I have worked for quality education in our public schools."

"The forum has now shifted from state government to national government and, if we are to have realistic answers to this issue, we need people in Washington who have been involved in public education and know how important it is for their children to receive a good foundation," stated Watson.

Wednesday night Watson spoke to the Wesleyan Home in Georgetown.

TOWARD THE FUTURE

For those few or those hundreds over the years who think we are a loosely organized combination of Ghengis Khan, Adolph Hitler and Charlie Chaplin—harsh at times beyond forebearance, presumptuous beyond comprehension, unpredictable as Texas weather, remember we are harder on ourselves at this newspaper than anyone else.

At this juncture, it is impossible to explain motivation without confusing everyone, your Herald included. But for all the change and unpredictability during the past few years, the results aren't so bad. Look around.

Simply put, I think Cameron has learned "never to give up", to take on the hardest projects as forthrightly as the easiest and grind them down to segments of soluable problems until they disappear.

Pulling the key log in a jam on the river is the only solution, if you can find it. Otherwise, you must blow up the logjam to free it. But then, you destroy a lot of good timber in the process.

Cameron is so wise in using the key man principle in finding the right person at the right time for the right job to bring off these splendid results. And we can name numerous ones—men and women—who have risen to the occasion when the test has come.

One result is a number of talents never before recognized and a number of leaders instead of a few who within their ken have produced the vast changes, the progressive changes in continuous flow, like the flow of a river to the sea.

Cameron has, in other words, continuity; other communities this size and numerous ones around us study the results. It is fair to say the pace of the community is upbeat and modern and sustaining its own momentum. It should continue for a number of years on the strength of what now develops.

We must feed new ideas into the flow and contain it, but the flow is real and growing. Cameron has quite a future now, as well as an historic past. And we can be proud of both, though some fear what may be ahead and others wonder why we haven't moved faster than we have.

We have moved, haven't we? This area's active generation will be remembered as builders when much of the rest of nation and world was busy tearing down or moving away or ignoring problems.

If that is a legacy—despite differences of opinion—it is a good one. We have run the drama of change and played it well. And as far as we can tell, the Cameron and Milam area are more interested in the future than ever.

Calvin Cobb To Head Local School Board

Calvin Cobb will head the Cameron school board following his election at a regular board meeting Tuesday evening.

He was elected by acclamation as were Forrest Sapp, vice president and Bill Hornung, secretary. The election was held following canvassing of votes in Saturday's election.

Hornung, re-elected to the board, and Dana Kestenbaum, new trustee, were sworn in by Miss Viola Wied, school secretary.

In other business, the board in a 3-2 vote reversed a policy voted in earlier in the school year, requiring smallpox vaccinations for students entering school.

Supt. D. R. Dodson quoted Dr. C. G. Swift, Milam County health officer, as saying there is more danger from the reaction to the vaccine than there is from the disease. The Texas State Board of Health last year deleted smallpox from the list of immunizations required for entering school.

Dodson explained that the Milam County Health Unit had stopped giving the smallpox vaccine and families were required to get it from private physicians.

Voting for deletion were Forrest Sapp, Bill Hornung and Dana Kestenbaum. Voting against it were Charles McDermott and Mrs. Betsy Brown. Bentley Hause abstained.

The board accepted a bid from Citizens National Bank for a loan at 3.9 percent to purchase property east of the football field. The plot will be used for future school expansion and also for parking until then.

Supt. Dodson reported that he had several applications for school band director. He, Yoe Principal Jack Chubb and Kestenbaum were authorized to screen applicants.

After a long discussion on school transfers, the board voted 5-1 to charge above grade transfer students from Gause and Maysfield $125 per year, the funds to be paid by the student's school district.

The board authorized Supt. Dodson to offer the Gause school district a one or two year contract which would mean that the Gause district would be run by the Cameron district without annexation. Gause would keep its 6-grade system and above grade students would transfer.

Bill Hornung led a discussion of putting school expansion and remodeling plans to action. The discussion centered on finding another building to house the special education department, now using a house which is "falling down."

Supt. Dodson was authorized to meet with Catholic officials to see if the former St. Anthony School building could be used by the Cameron schools. Plans drawn up by an architect were shown by Hornung, revealing renovation and improvement of Yoe High, the possible building of new classrooms, and building a combination auditorium and cafeteria next to Yoe High. Another plan shown was for a possible new gym and field house for the athletic department. The plans are tentative but trustees agreed planning and decisions should move forward without delays.

A meeting was set for Friday of the board and the architect-planner.

Officers Investigate Weekend Accidents

A total of eight traffic accidents was reported by county and city officials over the weekend with no fatalities and only minor injuries reported.

Texas Highway Patrolman Jerry Randall of Rockdale investigated four accidents Friday, the first on Highway 190-36 south of Buckholts. A car driven by Roscoe Blount of Houston and a pickup driven by Earl Allison of Buckholts collided. No injuries were reported.

TP&L To Apply Rate Increase

Texas Power & Light Company has begun applying a six percent rate increase to the bills of its customers in Cameron and the surrounding area, Henry Siebman, TP&L manager said.

The Price Commission recently approved the increase sought by the Company. The increase is being applied for the first time in April billing.

Yoe FFA To Host Banquet

The Cameron Yoe Future Farmers of America will host its annual Parent and Son Banquet Friday, April 7 at 7 p.m. at Simon-George Hall.

Some 25 special awards will be given to FFA students in recognition of work they have done during the year.

Folk Program Planned For Chamber Banquet

Dance groups, vocalists, and musicians will provide the program for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet to be held Thursday (tonight) at Methodist Fellowship Hall.

Authentic Czech and German food will make up the menu and guests will be treated to folk-style entertainment. Vocalists will include Mrs. Maurina Corley of Cameron. Dance groups will include young Czech Beseda dancers and part of the German dance groups, both of which first performed at Cameron's June Folk Fete. An accordionist from Temple will also be featured on the program.

A highlight of the banquet will be the presentation of the 1971 McCullin Civic Award, by Fredwill Hornung, the 1970 winner.

Gene Smitherman will be master of ceremonies for the program.

Outgoing Chamber of Commerce president Robert Ellett will introduce Don Humble, incoming president. Other new officers are Gene Blake, first vice president, and L. W. Stroup Jr., second vice president.

The city of Cameron will have a new mayor on April 18 when Gene Blake will be sworn in, along with one new councilman and a re-elected one.

Blake polled 478 votes in Tuesday's election, when a total of 516 votes were cast. Lester Turner was re-elected to Place 1 with 406 votes, while his opponent Hubert Knight received 128.

Lincoln Mondrik, a former city councilman of some years ago defeated James Kahler by 13 votes. He polled 256 and Kahler, 243.

Write in votes for mayor included two for present Mayor E. A. Perrin, one for Miss Mildred Thornton, one for Nathan Lewis, five for Lawrence Zotz, and two for "Charley Brown."

SCHOOL ELECTION
In Cameron's school board election, Fredwill Hornung polled 105 votes, and first-time candidate Dana Kestenbaum polled 100. A total of 130 ballots were cast.

Write in votes were tallied for Porter Young, one; Eugene Smitherman, one; and Bill Eanes, six.

In the county trustee election incumbent trustee at large Don Humble received 112 votes and new candidate J. D. Moore received 111 for trustee of Precinct 2. Mrs. Lyle McDermott received one write in vote.

In area elections, voters favored incumbents over new-comers in most of the races. Results of city and school trustee elections:

ROGERS

Dean Gommert, with 178 votes, was elected mayor of Rogers in voting Saturday. Gommert beat out Lee Goman with 58 votes and Lucio Munoz with 32.

Former Mayor Wayne Crawford, who sought a councilman post, was elected along with Billy Henderson and Billy Ray Crow.

Crawford polled 198 votes, Crow 113 and Henderson 86.

Other councilman candidates were Elmer Don Williams 83 votes, Leroy Clements 58, Bill Reid 52, John Garcia 74, Mrs. Lucio Munoz 77 and Rip Warren 3.

In the trustee election, Daniel Lesikar and Barton Weems, both incumbents, received 38 votes and were returned to their positions on the Rogers school board Saturday.

For county school trustees, J. V. Shaw received 32 votes and B. F. Harbour 35.

BUCKHOLTS

A. W. Zajicek with 113 votes and Joe Biskup, 126 votes, were elected Saturday to the Buckholts school board. The third candidate, Mrs. Minnie Kuzel, received 42 of the 149 votes cast.

Willie Glaser, 199 votes and Don Humble, 114, were named to the Milam County school board.

MILANO

Newcomer Melvin Graham with 64 votes led the ticket when two members of the Milano school board were elected Saturday.

Clare Hayman was re-elected with 48 votes. Ray Whited, incumbent, was defeated when he received only 46 votes.

ROCKDALE

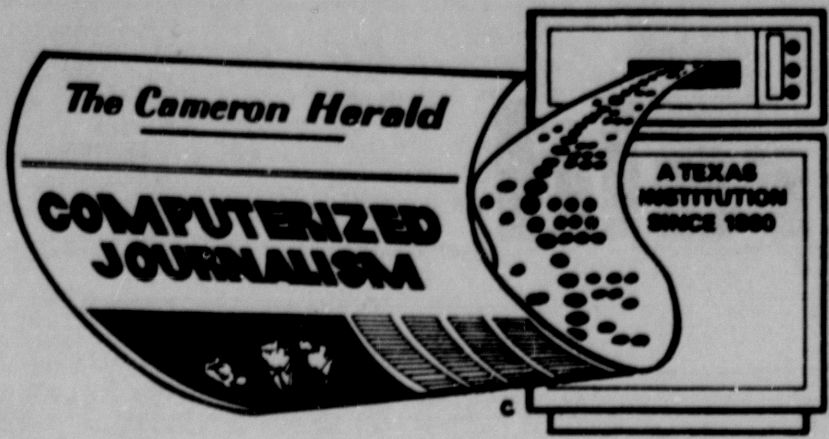

Harold M. Luckey, who ran unopposed, was elected mayor of Rockdale with 452 votes Saturday.

Two incumbent aldermen defeated their opponents for two year terms. In Ward I, Frank Hyder defeated Sessions Pounders by 312 to 165. E. E. Henry was returned to office in Ward II with 217 votes. H. D. Maxwell received 199 votes and the Rev. George Doss had 38 votes in that race.

A total of 489 votes were cast in what was termed "a pretty good turnout."

Incumbents were returned Saturday to the Rockdale School Board.

Elected in an average turnout of 451 voters were W. P. Hogan, 383 votes; Glenn Hodges 356; and Doncan D. McGregor 360. McGregor was elected to fill an unexpired two-year term.

New agricultural census figures show the dramatic increase of livestock and poultry value of the total Milam agriculture figure during the past five years.

In 1969, value of livestock, poultry and their products soared to $8,757,195 from a 1964 total of $4,648,817. This means an increase approaching 100 percent.

During the same five-year period, value of all crops sold in Milam County went from $4,861,348 in 1964 down to $3,668,198 in 1969, a drop of about 25 percent.

Total agriculture income in 1969, according to this Census of Agriculture, was $12,462,438, all of the increase in livestock and poultry.

Another interesting change was in the number of farms, this may be a tricky statistic. The county showed an increase of 77 farms during the five year period, from 1,723 to 1,800.

A total of 930, or about half of these farms, showed a gross income of $2,500 or more, compared to 683 in 1964.

But, inflation and introduction of greater livestock grazing would push almost any of these operations past the $2,500 annual gross, hardly a figure people could live on. It is likely many of these farms are part-time operations while outside income keeps people there raising livestock or limited crops.

Milam's average farm now is 270 acres worth about $52,000. And it is the place where the dramatic changes of the 1960's was felt.

A Different Banquet...

The Cameron Chamber is presenting a unique program Thursday night at the annual banquet, featuring music, vocal, instrumental and dance.

Officers will make reports at the ethnic-oriented banquet, expected to draw about 300 civic and professional leaders from around the Central Texas area at Methodist Fellowship Hall.

Presentations will include the annual McCullin Civic Award, awards to building owners completing modernization or reconstruction of downtown buildings and brief reports on progress during the past year.

No major address is scheduled. Instead, Folk Fete Czech and German dance groups will present numbers typical of appearances at Texas State Fair, New Braunfels Wurstfest and numerous other occasions in Central Texas and on television. Food will be ethnic too.

The banquet should be bright with costume and music typical of these peoples, part of the mix of peoples in Milam County.

It should be an entertaining, as well as an informative evening.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record By JOE CRUMP

HOW TO GROW A PATRIOT

REP. JOSEPH M. GAYDOS (Pa.) "... I came upon an advertisement in (an) issue of INDUSTRY WEEK magazine which I think should be of interest to my colleagues and to all Americans... American patriotism is one thing which absolutely cannot be manufactured abroad and imported here. We must produce it ourselves."

HOW TO GROW A PATRIOT
A patriot is a person who loves his country, supports his country, and defends his country.
Patriots are great to have around when the going gets rough.
So let's all go out and find some patriots. Unfortunately, it's not that easy.
You can't take a pill and become a patriot.
You can't stamp patriots out of an assembly line, like tanks or guns.

You can't legislate patriotism, it turns the kids off. You can't expect our schools, or our churches, or the government to mold our patriots. At least it isn't working that way.

Patriotism, it seems to us is something that needs to be passed along from one generation to the next. In the home.

By the folks who are in the best position to do the job. The Mothers, and the Fathers, and the next of kin. And time is running out.

First, find a young American, someone about 8 or 10, your son, or grandson, or the boy next door will do.

Next clear up any misconceptions he might have about demanding his freedom without working for it.
Make sure he learns why it was that Great Grandpa came over here in the first place.

Let him know how you feel when the flag goes by. Why you didn't skip town when the chips were down, in 42, 51, or 63.

To be resourceful and inventive. And turn in an honest day's work for a fair day's pay.

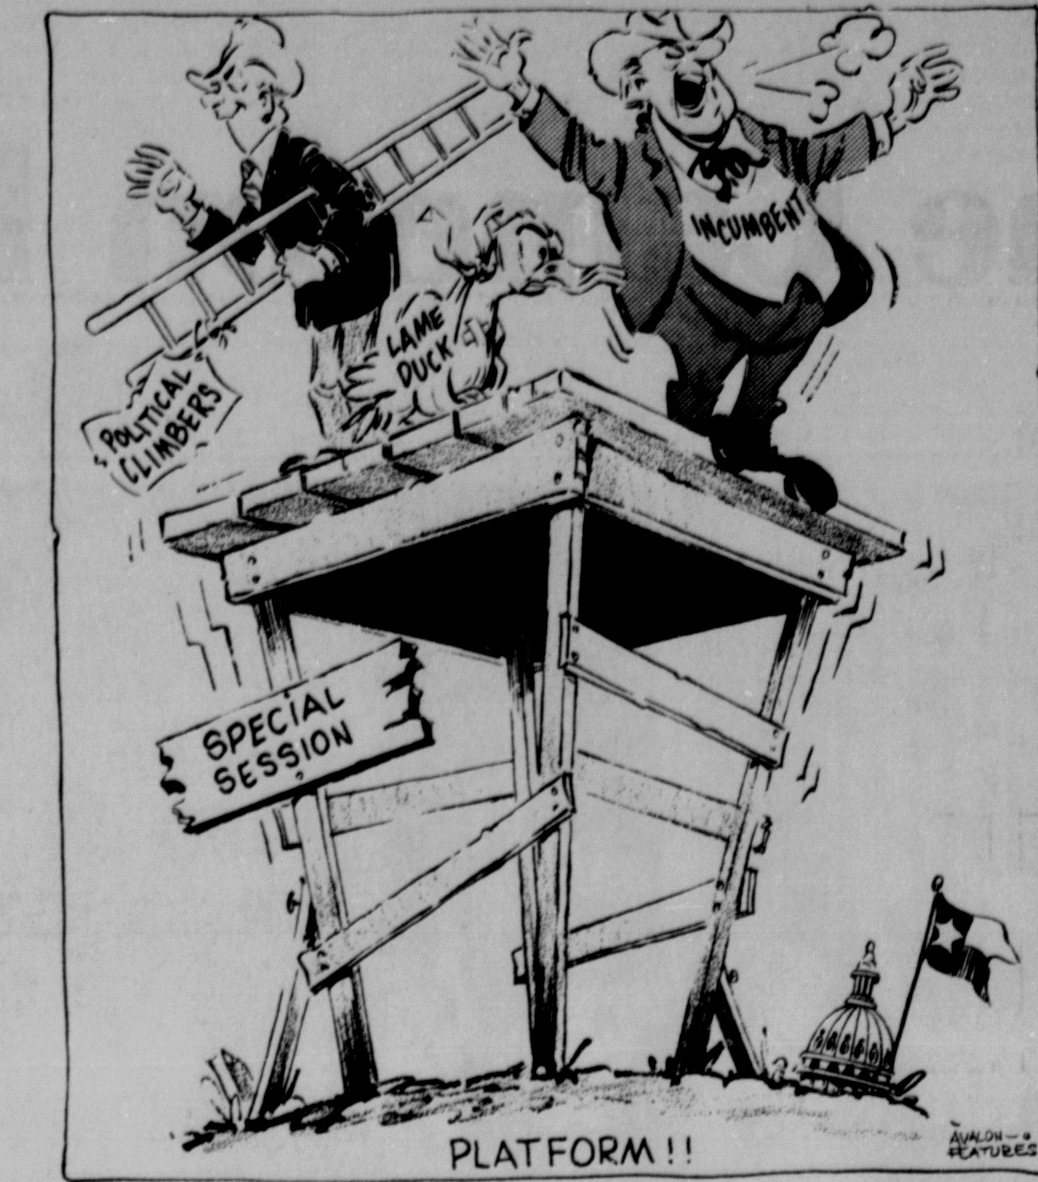

So maybe we ought to help show our young people the way. And if we do the showing, who knows?

Maybe someday, somewhere in this world when your young man is asked where he comes from, or what he stands for, he'll stand firm, hold up his head high, and say, "I'm an American."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

In an election year with both sides pointing out America's faults, extra effort to "grow a patriot" just might be in order.—J.C.

Peoples Party Strives To Make Its Voice Heard

By Robert Trautman
Reuter Correspondent

WASHINGTON
Amid the raucous noise of the traditional Democratic and Republican parties in this presidential election year, a small group is trying hard to make its unorthodox voice heard and garner votes for its candidate.

The Peoples Party is not very big yet, but it aims high and believes it has appeal for millions.

One of its pamphlets says a voter is a Peoples Party backer if he feels "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are not completely personified in aerosol cans, electric waste paper dispensers, or that kind of man who looks the camera right in its eyes to tell you (such and such) company cares."

The party fights against what it declares are the evils of war, the draft, big business, unfair taxes, race bias, pollution and the hundreds of wrongs it sees as affecting the United States today.

Party spokesman John Parker leaned back, put his feet -- clad in shoes but not socks -- on his untidy desk and conceded the Peoples Party did not expect to get its man into the White House as president.

The man they are running at present is Dr. Benjamin Spock, the 69-year old internationally-known baby doctor and Vietnam war protester.

Spock was chosen arbitrarily to give the party a known leader, but its nominating convention scheduled for Miami Beach in July -- the same place and month as the Democratic Party convention -- could choose someone else, Parker says.

Spock gained his initial fame through his "Common-sense Book of Baby and Child Care" which has sold millions and has guided millions of mothers, throughout the world in child-rearing. In his later years, Spock joined in war protests.

The one-in-a-million odds of Spock being elected do not deter Mr. Parker or the party. It may be short of money -- the party estimates its membership at somewhere between 450,000 and 4,500,000 -- but it has a lot of hopes.

One reason for the party's existence is to give hundreds of thousands of disaffected voters a place to go, says Parker.

Another is to block President Nixon from getting a second term in the White House.

Parker is convinced that the Democratic Party today, on the basis of its candidates and their stands on major issues, cannot beat Nixon.

proud of our highways, and I do not feel we could have afforded this great loss.

I feel that you as an influential member of your area should know how I voted and why I represented the district in the manner that I did. If I can ever be of any help or service, please do not hesitate to call or write.

Yours very truly,
Dan Kubiak

ED NOTE: According to The Austin American of April 1, Rep. Charles Patterson, of Taylor, contesting Rep. Kubiak for election in the new representative district of Williamson, Milam and Falls Counties, voted against funding of the 1972 primary elections and against the bill regulating billboards and junkyards along major highways.

Frank:

In your editorial of March 27, 1972, you condemn the keeping of livestock in the town limits of Cameron. No doubt pigs and any livestock can be odoriferous if their pens are not kept clean, but I would like to remind you of one particular point -- horses, especially horses for our young people. During a recent school board meeting we heard several young people riding horseback down the street. They were laughing and obviously having a wholesome pleasant evening. I felt grateful both that these Cameron youngsters had horses for their recreation and that they could safely ride the streets of our town at night. Studies have repeatedly found that young people who have horses are not delinquents. I hope the town of Cameron will encourage, not discourage, young people in the worthwhile enjoyment of horses.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

There's enough violence in the world without any additional help from me, for example a Washington commission has just finished an alarming study on the effect of T.V. violence on children, although it failed to study the effect of children's violence on adults, but, to pick up this sentence where I started it, I don't want to add to the sum total of violence but I heard about something the other day that needs perhaps violent attention.

It's a light bulb. There's a light bulb in California that's been burning for 71 years and is still going strong. Located in a fire station, it stays on night and day and is as good now as the day it was first turned on.

Understand I'm not suggesting it and it'd be a shame for it to happen, but perhaps somebody who understands world economy ought to shoot that thing out.

Have you stopped to think what would happen to the world's economy if everything lasted as long as that light bulb?

Buy a new car every 71 years? Never have to take it to a garage? Plug in a new refrigerator and an air conditioner and sit back with the comforting thought that your great grandchildren will have cold sodawater and never swelter in the summer time? Buy a new T.V. set and realize you won't have to buy a new one for the next 8 or 10 wars?

You can see immediately what this would do to manufacturing throughout the world and the ruination of the economy. You know what it did to the maker of that light bulb. The firm closed up for lack of new business.

Wouldn't be much left for people to do but sit around on sofas that won't wear out listening to old men tell about the excitement throughout the country when the last new model car came out years and years ago.

Actually, I ought to be ashamed of myself for calling even this much attention to that light bulb. Let's forget all about it, even if it does indicate the only known way to halt inflation.

If you want to keep the wheels turning, let your light so shine that it will burn out at least every 90 days.

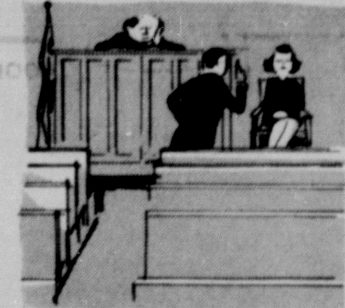

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Spicy Testimony

To sensation-seekers at the courthouse, this was the big day. A local politician was on trial for seduction, and the victim -- a 16-year-old schoolgirl -- was scheduled to take the witness stand and tell her story.

But the girl became so nervous about testifying in public that the judge ordered everyone except relatives and newspaper reporters out of the courtroom.

Later found guilty, the defendant appealed on the ground that he had not had a public trial. However, his appeal was denied. The court said clearing the courtroom was justified if that was the only way to get the girl's story.

Courts generally agree that a judge may exclude spectators if the modesty of a witness makes that necessary. But suppose the purpose is not to protect the witness but to protect the public. May a judge exclude spectators because he thinks the testimony might corrupt their morals?

Unless local law authorizes it, judges ordinarily do not have that power -- no matter how lurid the testimony may be. Thus:

In a rape case, the judge excluded spectators on the theory that their "only motive was to satisfy their morbid tastes." But an appellate court ruled that the judge had exceeded his authority. The court said the defendant's right to a public trial is too fundamental to be cast aside so easily.

A judgment of conviction, where the defendant has been refused a public trial, cannot stand," said the court, "even against the meaneast criminal in the land."

What if the defendant himself wants to keep out spectators, for reasons of his own? In a pending case, the defendant took that position, demanding that the entire proceedings be conducted in secret.

But the court ruled that he had no right to that much privacy. "A crime is a public wrong," said the court. "The community is deeply interested in the administration of justice, and the presence of its members at a trial is as basic as (the presence) of a defendant. The people have the right to know what is being done in their courts."

Texas Railroad Commission Grant Adjustment Rule

DALLAS Lone Star Gas Company announced that the Texas Railroad Commission had granted adoption of a gas cost adjustment rule requested by Lone Star. The rule authorizes the intra-company "city-gate" charge for gas sold to residential and commercial customers to be adjusted for changes in the cost of gas purchased by Lone Star.

The rate adjustment permits Lone Star to receive 65% of the increase or decrease of the cost of gas to the Company on a semi-annual basis.

Any customer rate adjustment resulting from this Order must be authorized by the cities served by the utility. The gas cost adjustment rule will benefit Lone Star customers by insuring natural gas service for their continued use and for the future growth of the Lone Star service area.

A spokesman for the utility explained that, "although Lone Star enjoys a favorable gas supply position, the current action by the Texas Railroad Commission puts in a stronger position to compete with other companies for additional gas supplies."

The need to continue adding new reserves and the spiraling cost of gas create a problem recognized by the Commission. Today's action is a step forward in stimulating additional exploration and development of new natural gas reserves in Texas.

County Agent's Notes

Agent Reports On Crops, Grain Sorghum Conditions

By Bill McCutchen

The traditional "Easter spell" of weather arrived last Wednesday and made some people glad that they hadn't planted cotton and others just kept on planting. Frank Kratochvil remarked, "This is the first time I can remember planting grain sorghum in shirt sleeves and planting cotton in an overcoat." Frank has been planting some check plots of TAMCOT SP 37, 21, and 23, which are supposed to be more cold tolerant.

It was estimated last weekend that about 15 percent of the Milam County Cotton allotment had been planted with much of this being in the Thorndale area.

CHINCH BUGS

For the first time in at least three years Milam County's grain sorghum crop is off to a good start. The last two years it has either been much too dry or wet to get grain sorghum planted early and off to a good start, but the crop is in early enough this year to beat the sorghum midge and hot, dry weather of July and August, providing of course that the hot, dry weather of July and August, weather waits that long to arrive.

In viewing grain sorghum around the county, most fields are up to a good stand and growing off well. Chinch bugs were noted in one field in the Sharp Community and were approaching damaging numbers. I would encourage producers to keep a close watch on young grain sorghum for greenbug and chinchbug damage.

Producers should consider controlling chinch bugs when 1 to 2 or more adults are found per 5 plants on seedlings less than 6 inches in height. At least five checks should be made randomly in the field to determine the infestation. Severe stunting by chinch bugs at these levels or grater, is noted from time of seedling emergence to 18 inches high.

HEREFORD FIELD DAY

Leon Noack of Rt. 2, Rockdale, informs me that he will have a "Doughnut Day" on the morning of April 8 from 9 to 12 a.m. at his ranch near Rockdale.

According to Leon, it will just be a get-together to discuss cattle and give people a chance to see what he is doing with his herd. Leon emphasized, "There will be no planned programs or long speeches, just visiting."

This will be an excellent opportunity to see some of the better Hereford cattle in the county. Leon recently had three of the top bulls in the All Hereford Bull Gain Test at the Cen Tex Bull Test Station at Navarro Junior College.

Leon has an English bull that is really doing him some good and I am sure some of this progeny will be on exhibit Saturday morning.

SWINE SHORT COURSE

Joe Walzel, Henry Ivey, Steve Beattie, James Vogel-sang and I were on hand for the Twenty - First Annual Swine Short Course at A&M March 27.

Highlights of the program included day old weaning, swine facilities for the next decade, Acid for storing high moisture grainsorghum, and the future of A. I. and a plowing down waste demonstration at the swine center.

The day old weaning is one of the latest innovations involving an artificial feeding and heating system. Day old weaning has many possibilities including more litters per year, saving more pigs, and handling more sows with less farrowing facilities.

There are still a lot of problems involved and it will be a while before this will be a reality for the swine producer, if ever.

FIRE BLIGHT

Homeowners all over Milam County have been calling about damage to pear trees this year. Usual symptoms include small fruit dying and turning dark brown or black and the leaves surrounding the fruit also dying. This condition is very typical of fire blight which is a bacterial disease.

The disease is spread from blossom to blossom in the early spring by insects, principally honey bees.

The blossom blight is just part of the problem as this disease can affect twigs, large limbs and the main trunk and is capable of killing the tree.

The Laconte pear seems to be very susceptible to this fungus while the Orient and Kieffer are somewhat disease tolerant.

Control methods include pruning the plant 4-6 inches below the last visible damage. Cuts larger than 2 inches below the last visible inches in diameter should be painted with a wound dressing.

Spray materials for control of this disease include Bordeaux mixture and Zineb.

Excellent results are obtained when three to four applications of a weak bordeaux mixture are applied beginning when 10 percent of the blossoms are open and on a continued schedule every 5 to 7 days until a total of three to four applications are made.

Zineb has also been effective on the same spray schedule as the bordeaux mixture at the rate of 2 pounds in 100 gallons of water.

Coastal Still Pasture Favorite

"Coastal bermudagrass is still among the high-producing, good-quality perennial grasses in Texas," says Dr. Neal Pratt, Extension agronomist at Texas A&M University.

Although Coastal has to be planted from sprigs or vegetative plant material, approximately two million acres are growing in Texas. Furthermore, many farmers and ranchers throughout Texas are planting additional acreages.

"Forage producers and cattlemen recognize its potential for today's high-intensity agriculture," points out Pratt.

A strong characteristic of Coastal is its drought tolerance, contends the agronomist. And dry weather in much of Texas last year emphasized this valuable characteristic. Its deep root system enhances drought tolerance.

Another "plus" factor is that Coastal responds well to fertilization. "This means improved protein content," notes Pratt, "in addition to increased grass growth for additional grazing. Fertilization also enhances drought tolerance and helps decrease weeds in Coastal pastures.

Soil should be fertilized according to soil test recommendations."

The agronomist recommends planting fresh, viable sprigs in clean, well-prepared seedbeds. Sprigs should be kept cool and moist after digging.

Weed control will allow stands of Coastal to become established more rapidly. A pre-emergence herbicide should be applied at planting, especially if the field is noted for weeds.

"When the grass is fully established, plan to use high rates of plant food and graze the grass short," says Pratt. "These two practices help maintain forage quality and improve livestock performance."

Community Development

A pilot project will begin in two Texas counties this fall to lay the groundwork for involving 4-H youth in a statewide community development program. The project is designed to find ways in which youth and adults in a community can work together to accomplish certain community objectives, says Lanny Bullard, 4-H and youth specialist.

Beef Cattle Field Day Set

McGREGOR

The 1972 Beef Cattle Field Day of the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research Center here is April 7.

And the day will be of historical importance to the Texas cattle industry and to the long program of beef cattle research at the Center: its Charolais herd will be sold at auction.

The sale will begin the transition from 22 years of research primarily with purebred dams to that solely with crossbred dams.

Purebred sires have always been used at the Center, and will continue to be used.

Sale of the Charolais and, in the future, of all other breeds, will make room for the arrival next March of 1,000 3-month-old F-1 heifers that will be the mother cows in what is probably the world's largest and most ambitious program of cross-breeding research.

Even so, the Center has already pioneered research that has revealed some of the advantages in cross-breeding.

The field day begins at 9 a.m. with tours of the various research areas at the huge Center, including one of grass plots. No formal program is scheduled.

Lunch will be Dutch-treat, and the sale of 80 Charolais, including six mature bulls, begins at 1 p.m., to be followed immediately by the sale of 19 mature and 15 yearling bulls of other breeds, and of 21 crossbred heifers.

Complete records of all animals will be available. Bulls will be tested and cows palpated for pregnancy.

Hearings Set On High Beef Prices

The Livestock and Grains Subcommittee of the House Committee on Agriculture will hold three days of intensive hearings on the structure and present level of beef prices.

Scheduled to surround the one-day investigation set by the Price Commission, the House inquiry will be held April 10, 11, and 13. Public witnesses will be heard on the 10th and 11th, with the 13th set aside for Department officials.

Subcommittee Chairman Graham Prucell explained the purpose of the hearings is to let Congress focus on the economic construction of current beef prices.

"I don't remember a more confused issue than the ongoing controversy over present levels of beef prices. We've got New England Congressmen calling for the Secretary of Agriculture to resign and others calling for a national boycott on meat products. On the other hand we've got ranch-state Congressmen saying 'get off our backs.' Our intention with these hearings is to zero in on where food prices, and particularly beef prices, stand in relation to other commodities and services; and secondly, we want to let Congress focus on those points at which the various cost factors are added to the price of a beefsteak between the feedlot and the consumer," Purcell said.

Farm News

The 17th Annual Texas Commercial Egg Clinic will be held at Texas A&M University March 29. The clinic will be highlighted by discussions on Exotic Newcastle, feed restriction for laying hens, pesticide residue monitoring, merchandising eggs, egg inspection and quality control programs for egg operations.

HOG CHOLERA

The hog cholera situation is looking better but producers must keep up their guard to prevent further outbreaks, says Dr. James Armstrong, Extension Veterinarian. Uncooked garbage and scraps should not be fed to hogs. All sick animals should be reported to a veterinarian as soon as possible.

SCS NEWS

Have you seen a Texas pistachio tree, an Attwater prairie chicken, or a Texas wildrice plant lately?

Probably not, because they are scarce.

But they are some of the rare and endangered species that will be discussed at an interagency conference in Austin April 5.

Called by the USDA Soil Conservation Service, the meeting will be attended by representatives of state and federal agencies, universities, and various organizations interested in preserving Texas plants and wildlife.

Clyde W. Graham, state conservationist for SCS in Temple, said the purpose of the meeting will be to prepare a correlated Texas watchlist of rare and endangered species of plants, animals, fishes and birds; to discuss the kinds of measures important to their habitat; and to discuss the possibility of setting up a monitoring program.

Objective of a monitoring program could be to obtain advance warning of actions and conditions that could further endanger these species. Appropriate action could then be taken to protect them.

"With professional conservationists headquartered in 259 field locations in Texas, we feel that SCS is uniquely capable of playing a vital role in monitoring the situation," Graham continued. "We are asking all district conservationists to examine local SCS and SCS-assisted programs to evaluate effects on these plants and animals, and recommend any action needed for their protection."

"We are attempting to compile a coordinated list of our state's rare and endangered animal and plant species," Graham said. "We plan to keep our local offices informed of just what these species are, where they prosper, and where they probably occur, and other information regarding their numbers, habitat, critical factors, and the like."

The Secretary of Interior

annually issues a list of rare and endangered fish and wildlife species in the United States. This list includes several species found at least part of the time in Texas including the Attwater prairie chicken, golden-cheeked warbler, ivory-billed woodpecker, whooping crane, American alligator, red wolf, and the Houston toad.

SCS has already been actively engaged in trying to help save several rare species, Graham pointed out. For example, range conservationists along the Gulf Coast have helped improve tall grass habitat needed by the Attwater prairie chicken. Excellent results have been obtained in the last few years.

Also, an SCS range conservationist found a specimen of the mysterious Texas pistachio tree clinging to the steep banks of the Devils River near Amistad Reservoir. The lovely evergreen, relished by wildlife and livestock, was once feared extinct. Seed collected from the tree were planted at the SCS plant materials center at Knox City and at a Texas Forest Service nursery. Since only a few seedlings were obtained, attempts will now be made to propagate the plant by cuttings.

Maps showing preferred golden-cheeked warbler habitat were also printed by SCS and given to the Texas Ornithological Society to aid their attempt to preserve choice warbler nesting sites.

Graham said that SCS cooperative work with rare and endangered plants and animals would represent better utilization of the agency for overall environmental improvement, but that it did not represent a change in SCS principles of conservation.

Aluminum Framing Is New Item

PITTSBURGH, Pa. Alcoa projects that by 1985 aluminum framing will be used in 10 percent of all residential building in the country.

The forecast is based on initial market response to the company's new Aluminum frame building system. Introductory sales for 1971 totaled $651,000.

"In terms of house frames, that amounts to more than 629 units, which is a promising number for a material with potential to supplant lumber as the principal ingredient in residential construction," said Thomas J. Taylor, Alcoa's manager of residential building industry sales.

He said that supplying aluminum framing for just five percent of the residential building market annually would amount to sales in excess of $100 million.

"We expect the system to be used for more than 1200 homes next year and then move rapidly toward becoming an industry standard," Taylor said.

With the Aluminumframe system, aluminum extrusions are used instead of wood for structural framing and related components.

It was introduced just 18 months ago, and now is being tried by more than 60 builders nationwide and in places such as the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, Australia and Japan.

CLINICS, WORKSHOPS

1971 was a banner year for off-campus agricultural short courses, clinics and workshops conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Attendance by commercial agricultural producers and others in related businesses soared to a record total of 83,112 people.

Mature trees not harvested begin a slow decline to decay.

An Open Letter To The People Of Texas

Dear Voter:

I'm a candidate for attorney general of Texas because I believe it's time for a change in the office.

Crawford Martin is seeking a fourth term. It's the first time in the history of Texas an attorney general is running for a fourth term. Campaigns should be run on the issues and I don't like to inject personalities and personal relationships into a political campaign. But, the relationship between Frank Sharp and Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin cannot be swept under the rug.

The new book about the Texas stock fraud scandal, "Texas Under a Cloud," tells about that relationship. On page 128 the book says:

"Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, ... got some free newspaper publicity when it was revealed in October, 1971, that he received a 'stock tip' from Frank Sharp - while Martin and his family were Sharp's ranch guests late in 1969 and again at Sharp's Houston office early in 1970."

"Sharp was trying personally to sell National Bankers Life stock to Martin, although the attorney general said that Sharp never mentioned the possibility of Sharps-town Bank loans to buy the stock."

"Martin said that he turned the stock offer down because it would have cost too much, because NBL was in 'shaky' condition, and because he did not buy 'speculative' stocks."

"He did not comment on the ethical aspects of a state official's accepting a stock tip of that sort - perhaps, because - Martin, as attorney general, had ruled in favor of Sharp on a key legal issue about Sharps-town State Bank only two and one half years before Sharp made the stock offer to Martin."

"Martin's ruling had the effect of increasing the bank's capitalization dramatically, and thus its ability to make large loans, ultimately giving Sharp the financial resources he used in the manipulations charged by the SEC."

As you know, hundreds of Texans lost their life savings because of Sharp's stock manipulations and it probably wouldn't have happened but for Atty. Gen. Martin's legal opinion.

Don't you agree, it's time for a change in the office of attorney general of Texas?

Just so you'll know what you'd be changing to, I'd like to tell you a little about John Hill. I'm a native Texan, grew up in Wink and Kilgore, was national debate champion at Kilgore Junior College and graduated from the University of Texas Law School. I served in the Navy during World War II, practiced law (much of the time in courtrooms) in Houston, and was secretary of state from 1966 to 1968.

I certainly would appreciate your support.

It is time for a change.

NEWS RELEASE!

Horace Justice, Vice President and Division Manager Safeway Stores, Dallas, announced today that Safeway's policy regarding pricing of meat will remain as it has always been. A broad check of Safeway's prices will show that Safeway retail prices are as low or lower than competitors for equal quality and trim. Cost increases or decreases will affect retail pricing and Safeway will pass along any declines to the consumer promptly. Many of Safeway's current prices are at or below the level in effect at the time of the price freeze August 14, 1971. Mr. Justice was quoted as saying, "Let me again assure all of our good customers that Safeway will be prompt in reflecting in retail meat prices cost declines as they occur."

Fighting Inflation With Fish

AUSTIN Grocery shopping seems to get more difficult and frustrating every week. Prices continue to rise, especially for main course dishes.

By increasing the amount of fish and seafood in the family menu the housewife can stretch her budget a bit further.

There is very little fat in fish which means little if any cooking loss. You won't see your food money cook away to nothing.

Boneless fish fillets have virtually no waste, so price-wise they compare favorably with meat containing large, heavy bones.

Choose from fresh Texas Gulf coast species like red fish, spotted trout, snapper, drum or flounder. All are lean fish and have a wonderful flavor.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has a leaflet of low-cost recipes that is available free of charge to anyone requesting it. Send your name and address to: Seafood Recipes, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Austin, Texas 78701 and ask for "Fish In Your Kitchen."

The following recipe is a sample from the 10 published in the colorful brochure.

FILLETS IN TOMATO CHEESE SAUCE

2 pounds fish fillets
1 can cream of tomato soup
2 tbsps. chopped onion
3/4 tsp. salt
pepper to season
1 cup grated cheese

Cut fillets into six servings and place in a well-greased baking dish about 12 x 8 x 2 inches. Combine soup, onion, salt and pepper and pour over fish. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

On Good Will Tour Maid Spins Good Cotton Yarn

Not only does 1972 Maid of Cotton Debbie Wright speak up for cotton as the natural fiber, but she also spins a good yarn about the research going on in the industry.

Neither of these points comes as a surprise, however, because the job is a natural for the 22-year old Texas Tech graduate. She grew up on a cotton farm at Tahoka on the South Plains of Texas, where a large portion of the nation's cotton crop is harvested.

Debbie's cotton-farming dad, Bryan Wright, instilled in her a fierce loyalty to the natural fiber that provided their livelihood. She says she has been buying her clothes on the basis of cotton content for a long time, and it was usually okay with her father to bring home anything of cotton. "If it wasn't cotton, though, I had to wait and see how the day went on the farm before I could bring it home."

In the interest of ecology, consumers — and particularly those who make up the youth market — are buying more cotton items. The search is for the natural. "Cotton is the ideal natural fiber," Debbie says. "It's fresher and crisper and it has the real clean look I like. It even looks clean in a pair of blue jeans."

A blue-eyed blond, Debbie was a dean's list scholar as a home economics major at Texas Tech and plans to do graduate work in nutrition therapy when her tour as cotton's first lady ends. Her interest in nutrition has been heightened greatly by the new possibilities of cottonseed as a food source.

"Most people associate cotton with fashion," she says, "and, of course, it's the No. 1 use. But it's also interesting to see the new research going on in the labs today to develop new, high-protein foods from cottonseed."

"Nutrition has been one of my interests for a long time. One of my friends worked with cottonseed when she was doing nutrition research, and these products — cookies and breads, mostly — really taste pretty good."

"Now they're talking about putting cottonseed concentrate in soft drinks so that three of them would give kids their daily protein requirement."

Another exciting phase of cotton research, according to Debbie, deals with new developments in durable press and non-flammable cottons. "For example, experiments with radiation are being done to change the fiber at the molecular level for no-iron fabrics without chemical finishes."

Like any daughter of a cotton producer, Debbie is often asked if she has picked cotton. The answer is a polite "no." Cotton on the Wright farm — like that on 95 percent of the nation's cotton farms — now is machine harvested.

"When I was small, I did go out and pull some to see if I was good enough to keep up with the workers," Debbie says. "I lasted about five minutes."

Another question she hears often is whether she feels exploited in her role as Maid of Cotton. "Definitely not," she says. "You can't say you're being exploited when you're having an opportunity to meet people, and to travel throughout this country and many other nations as an ambassador not only for cotton but for the United States, too."

Debbie says she is finding the tour "demanding in a nice sort of way. It's a matter of discipline. You're no longer representing just yourself, but thousands of people who work in cotton."

She says she likes the idea of doing something for cotton "because it has done a lot for me and the nation. It's brought improved consumer products at lower prices because of research and competition. And it creates thousands of jobs — from growing cotton to manufacturing it."

Her tour includes stops in Canada, the U.S., the Far East, and Europe. Debbie says she's particularly interested in traveling out of the country "to see what everybody else is doing with cotton. Maybe they're doing some things we're not, and we're doing a tremendous number of things."

LADYLIKE COTTON—Flower-printed cotton in a profusion of pastel colors inspires a distinctive city costume for 1972 Maid of Cotton Debbie Wright. The jewel-buttoned jacket is worn over a matching sleeveless dress with scooped neckline. It's a Kiki Hart design.

HOORAY FOR DENIM!—That's how the average American girl feels about cotton denim blue jeans and 1972 Maid of Cotton Debbie Wright naturally cottons to jeans, too. Included in her travel wardrobe are blue jeans embroidered with bright red and yellow stars. They're teamed here with a nautical-inspired cotton knit shirt. Both by Charlie's Girls.

COTTON CHARMER—Polka dots are played against flowers in this bare-shouldered dress with lace-trimmed stole. Green and white cotton chintz shapes the bodice and stole, while quilting adds dimension to the ankle-length skirt. Worn by Maid of Cotton Debbie Wright, it's an Eloise Curtis design for Happenstance.

FASHION SPIN-OFF—Cotton in black and white checks creates a costume for spring fashion mileage. The short jacket with white collar and cuffs tops a short-sleeved dress with wrap skirt. By Bill Blass, it's in Maid of Cotton Debbie Wright's tour wardrobe.

Highland Lake Bluebonnet Trail Dates April 8 - 16

The Highland Lakes Bluebonnet Trail, set for April 8-16, will not be as beautiful as it has in past years due to lack of winter moisture, but there will be bluebonnets and lots of things to see and do on this year's Trail.

The Trail laces the area of the seven lake, Highland Lakes Chain at Austin and can be entered at Austin, Marble Falls, Llano, Mason, Bertram, or Lampasas. Other cities on the Trail are Burnet, Kingsland, and Buchanan Dam.

Each Chamber of Commerce will remain open during the two weekends to answer questions and pass out maps showing the best locations of bluebonnet fields.

Visitors will be interested in the Marble Falls Howdy-Roo Festival, April 8, initiated this year as an added attraction to the annual Bluebonnet Trail. The event includes country fair type activities, a flea market, arts and crafts fair, and a chili cookoff.

Other special activities during the Trail include fish fry, set for Noon, April 9, one-half mile west of Buchanan Dam on Hwy 29.

Old timers claiming to be bluebonnet watchers predict that the area near Kingsland and Buchanan Dam will have more bluebonnets to see than the other areas.

NEW CAMPING HORIZONS IN COLORFUL CAROLINA

Heritage trails to high adventure wind through the Great Smoky Mountains of the Carolinas.

Fleets of modern camper vehicles, from self-contained pickup units to luxurious motor homes await vacationers arriving from major cities around the country.

A new program, being introduced by Eastern Airlines, will open new outdoor horizons for vacation-bound families. These Fly In-Camp Out tours, originated by Camp America, Inc., provide families with all the comforts of home: built-in comfortable beds, dinette, oven, stove, ice box and toilet facilities.

Upon arrival in bustling Charlotte, families board their reserved camper vehicle. Within an hour they're encamped at one of the finest new campgrounds in the nation, a prototype of things to come for outdoor travelers.

Cross Country Campground, just 30 minutes outside of Charlotte offers an 18-acre stocked lake, graded wading stream, heated swimming pool, playground, hiking trails and horseback riding. Widely spaced campsites preserve privacy. Convenient.

ence is a key, also. A fully stocked provision store, laundromat, and recreation pavilion make outdoor living easy.

In variety vacationland, campers can head for the hills, traveling through spectacular waterfall country where mountain streams rush through glades and ravines.

Travelers can tour the Cherokee Indian reservation and Oconaluftee Indian village and watch the stirring pageant, "Unto These Hills," presented there daily.

Along the Blue Ridge Parkway, spectacular views are everywhere. Heritage highways wind across the Smoky Mountains where visitors can join in barn dances, visit museums, see native craftsmen at work.

Free, illustrated folders about Fly In-Camp Out vacations are available from travel agents or Eastern Airlines offices.

Rich in history, folkways and wide open spaces, North Carolina offers exceptional vacation adventures.

For families on the go, Fly In camping offers new opportunities. To Discover Outdoor America this year.

Braise Beef Patties In Applesauce for Flavor-Packed Entree

Ground beef is America's most versatile food favorite. The dozens of different ground beef recipes packed in a cook's file prove it. Yet, no matter how many are on hand, another good recipe for this popular meat choice is always welcomed.

with many other foods, points out Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock and Meat Board. She recommends Saucy Beef-Sausage Patties as a different and delicious way to put this economical and nutritious meat to good use.

Saucy Beef-Sausage Patties
1 pound ground beef
1/2 pound pork sausage
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup applesauce
1/3 cup catsup

2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine beef, pork sausage and 1/2 teaspoon salt and shape into 6 patties 1/2 inch thick. Brown on both sides over low heat. Pour off drippings. Combine applesauce, catsup, onion, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice, sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt and cinnamon and pour over patties. Cover tightly and cook slowly 15 minutes or until meat is well done. Serve sauce over patties. 6 servings.
